Directors Elected At Annual Soil Dist. Meeting; Speaker Praises Cooperation

Large Crowd Attends Affair at HTHS; Entertaining Address by J. E. Stanford

Three directors and three associate directors were elected by the Saline County Soil Conservation District at the annual district meeting held Tuesday night at the Harrisburg Township high school.

Directors elected were Alva Gholson, Carl Vance and Cecil Nelson. Associate directors elected were Ernie Tate, Lowell Wise and R. L. Morris. Holdover directors are Evell Harris and Paul Halbersteb.

About 400 Soil District members, land owners, civic club members, business leaders and guests attended the ladies' night dinner meeting. The meeting was sponsored by the Harrisburg Kiwanis club and the Rotary and Lions clubs held their regular meetings at that time.

Guest speaker for the meeting was J. E. Stanford, public relations director of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation, who delivered an entertaining address praising the fine spirit of understanding and cooperation between the various groups in Saline county.

Outlines Problems
"Only through understanding and knowledge of each others problems can we get a maximum of results out of our community efforts," Mr. Stanford said.

A community shows good common sense in pulling together, Mr. Stanford said, in outlining some of the problems and duties of agriculture and business.

Agriculture problems and duties of farmers, he listed:

1. Be good stewards of soil, prevent its waste and replenish it in good soil conservation;
2. Farmers are faced with uncertainties of seasons, insects, diseases and market conditions;
3. The farmer works for the smallest wage of any other group, he gets only about 40 per cent of the consumer dollar and at the same time is paying record high production costs;
4. Farmers are getting less percentage of the national income than during the great depression.

Learning to Organize
Because of these things, Mr. Stanford stated, the farmers are learning to organize and depend on good leadership. Those who cooperate and pull together have been able to meet their problems.

Businessmen also have troubles, Mr. Stanford stated. Some of them he listed as follows:

1. They are paying the highest taxes, highest labor costs and highest upkeep in history;
2. The average businessman is making the smallest profit ever known in this country;
3. The businessman undergoes more regimentation than ever before;
4. He is inspected and suspected by the government;
5. More than 50 per cent of people going in business in the past twenty years have failed;
6. During times of great depression.

Community Development Part of Saline Valley Group's Industry Program

A long-range plan for community development in the two-county area of Saline and Gallatin as well as a concerted effort to bring industry into the area is the aim of the Saline Valley Development association.

The SVDA is an overall agency, working in close co-operation with and receiving guidance from Southern Illinois University's Department of Community Development, and is composed of representatives from municipalities and organizations throughout the two-county area.

"The SVDA is deeply concerned with all of our communities having their houses in order so that it will be easier for industry now sought, or industry that we'll be seeking in the future, to come into our towns," Ewell Winkelman of Harrisburg, SVDA president, stated today.

Young Resigns State Post

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—Samuel H. Young, Glenview, has resigned as assistant secretary of state effective Feb. 16.

Secretary Charles F. Carpenter announced the resignation Tuesday and said Young will return to private law practice.

Springfield attorney Robert Cronson, who is now chief of the securities division in Carpenter's office, was regarded as the probable successor to Young.

Young has been assistant secretary for about 1-2 years. Earlier he had headed the securities division in Carpenter's office.

Young had been considered running for the Republican nomination for state treasurer this year, until it developed that Gov. Stratton's support would go to State Rep. Louis E. Beckman, Kankakee.

Carpenter said Young's resignation was accepted with "sincere personal regret" and that "the state of Illinois and myself are deeply indebted to you for your conscientious efforts and accomplishments in the field of government for the past five years."

Construction of Superhighway Delayed by Wildlife Service: Gray

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Construction on the new Federal Interstate Highway No. 4 through Southern Illinois may be delayed for approximately one year unless the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service reverses a decision in which they have denied the Illinois Division of Highways right-of-way through the Crab Orchard Wildlife Refuge. This word came today from Congressman Kenneth J. Gray in Washington after a meeting with Daniel H. Janzen, Director U. S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife and R. R. Bartlesmeyer, chief highway engineer for the Illinois Division of Highways.

Gray said the U. S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife has turned down a request by the Illinois Highway Department for right-of-way use for the new four lane turnpike proposed to cross a 3-mile strip of the eastern boundary of the Crab Orchard area. The Southern Illinois Congressman stated that construction contracts were scheduled to be awarded early this year and several hundred thousand dollars has been spent making engineering plans. If the proposed route from Marion to Dongola should be forced to change its course to miss the Crab Orchard Refuge it would mean approximately a one-year delay plus added cost to the State Highway Department for new engineering studies, he said. According to Gray the right-of-way requested by the State is approximately 600 feet in width for a distance of three miles.

In asking for public support Gray said: "As a member of the House Committee on Public Works, I have worked diligently in helping write a program in Congress to give America the highways that are so badly needed. A new turnpike through Southern Illinois will definitely change the economic outlook of our area, reduce the mounting toll of accidents and provide motorists with safe and comfortable driving therefore, we cannot afford a one year delay in starting this program. I urge every citizen in Southern Illinois to write a post card or letter to the U. S. Department of the Interior, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, Washington, D. C., urging approval of the right-of-way requested by the Illinois Division of Highways in order that this program may get underway immediately. I have met with Fish and Wildlife officials urging action; however, I believe it will be necessary for a strong expression of public opinion before the right-of-way will be granted."

The Congressman stated that the new interstate road would be of great value to the Fish and Wildlife Refuge making it accessible from every direction and he is at a loss to understand the "action of the Bureau" but that he intends to see that the needs of the people are given preference to wildlife.

"If the Fish and Wildlife Service should give approval, it will still be necessary for Congress to act since the land is owned by the Federal Government, however, I have the assurance of the members of the Congressional Committee handling such matters that a special meeting will be called to expedite the request if presented" Gray said.

GOP Prospects

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
The high strategists of the Republican party must be having some thoughtful hours as they look ahead to the 1958 general elections. Most of the impartial appraisers don't give them much chance to capture Congress this fall.

To win the House of Representatives, the GOP needs to pick up roughly 20 seats. The party deficit was 50 to 46 in the Senate until the recent death of Sen. Matthew Neely, West Virginia Democrat. If that state's Republican governor follows form and names a Republican to serve until the election, the margin will close to 49-47.

The prospect of the GOP seizing the House or Senate is considered dim by most of the political experts. Since the Democratic sweep with the Roosevelt landslide in 1932, the Republicans have won just two congressional elections out of 13.

As a matter of fact, the GOP House triumph in 1930 was fruitless, since in those days Congress did not meet until December of the year following the election and by that time vacancies had given the Democrats control.

Democratic margins in the Senate usually have been tighter than in the House, but they have been just as consistent.

Only in 1946, in the aftermath of World War II, and in 1952, by a narrow squeak while President Eisenhower was building a whoping victory, did the GOP take the congressional reins.

Faced with this record of performance, the top Republican command may find itself asking:

1. Are the party's ideas and programs in tune with the people and the times?

2. Is it putting up a sufficient number of able, attractive candidates?

Americans interested in the basic health of both major parties will be just as concerned as GOP leaders in getting straight answers to those questions, and in hearing plans for sound remedial steps if the reply in either or both instances is unfavorable.

"Aw, We Can Make It"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON SAYS:
Venezuelan Revolution Was Spearheaded By Newspapers; Scandalous Conduct Of Officials Stirred Church Wrath; Bow And Arrow May Come Back In Style.

WASHINGTON. — The revolt that upset Dictator Perez Jimenez was inspired in large part by the newspapers and led by newspaper reporters, Fabricio Ojeda, one of the chief revolt leaders, is a working newspaper reporter on El Nacional. "Cipano" Gervasi, columnist for El Nacional, another revolt leader, was jailed some time ago. He went into jail weighing 200 pounds, came out a thin man.

Publisher of El Nacional is Miguel Otero Silva, Venezuelan poet, who has built up one of the liveliest news staffs in the Western Hemisphere. Like American editors and publishers when the Thirteen Colonies revolted against England, Venezuelan newsmen had more to do with the downfall of Jimenez Perez than any other single factor.

In the lead also was the Catholic publication, La Religion, with a small circulation but plenty of courage. It was the first to brave the dictator.

Publisher Otero, though pro-American, is not permitted to enter the United States because of the McCarran Act. He admits that he was once a member of the Communist party.

Returning from Paris on Air France, he had some time to kill in New York and, for some reason, U. S. immigration authorities let him go into Manhattan.

Afterward Otero remarked: "I was surprised at your famed immigration people. They let me go into New York where I dropped in at St. Patrick's Cathedral, lunched at the Ritz, bought a present for my wife at Tiffany's and never even blew up the Brooklyn bridge."

What made the Venezuelan political ground ripe for revolt was the personal behavior of Perez Jimenez and the men around him. The Catholic church began turning against him when they took additional wives and mistresses. The richer they got the more brazen they were in kicking out old wives and taking on new ones.

Perez Jimenez set the precedent by taking up with the winner of a beauty contest, who produced a male heir. The dictator had six different residences. His chief of secret police, Pedro Estrada, bought from Henry Winston, New York jeweler, a fabulous necklace reputed to have cost $400,000. Simultaneously Pedro Estrada filled Venezuelan jails with political prisoners and operated torture rooms that were the scandal of the Western Hemisphere.

DULLES BLESSED VENEZUELA
In Washington, the Venezuelan revolt did not take the administration by surprise. CIA Chief Allen Dulles had privately predicted it was coming.

Earlier, however, his brother, the secretary of state, had gone out of his way to praise the Perez Jimenez regime. Testifying before the Senate Finance committee, March 23, Dulles said:

"Venezuela is a country that has adopted the kind of policies which we think the other countries of South America should adopt; namely, they have adopted the kind of policies which provide in Venezuela a climate that is attractive to foreign capital to come in."

Six days later, March 29, 1955 John Foster Dulles was telling the Senate Foreign Relations committee that the key to the U. S. role in western civilization was its "dedication to human liberty and dignity."

Note — Dulles seems to have a fondness for dictatorships. Last Christmas Eve, during the Eisenhower-Dulles report to the nation on the NATO conference, Dulles said: "Mr. President I was just saying there are many strands of the free world. NATO does not represent them all." He went on to picture Franco's military-political tieup with the United States as one of these "strands" and commented: "It is like these that hold the free world together." Spain didn't get into NATO because Belgium and Scandinavia refused to accept the Dulles thesis that Franco's Spain was one of those "strands."

Two California Democrats, Rep. Chet Holifield and John Moss, were musing outside the House of Representatives about the bow and arrow invented by a scientist during World War II and still kept under secrecy wraps by the Pentagon thirteen years later.

"You know," opined Congressman Moss, "it might not be such a bad idea to keep that bow and arrow secret. After the next war is fought with nuclear bombs, bows and arrows may be all we have left to fight with."

"That's right," agreed Holifield of Los Angeles. "In fact it might even be a good idea to slap a secrecy classification on sticks and stones. We might need them to fight with, too."

"Yes," replied Moss of Sacramento, "and I think you might even include old bottles within the category of future weapons." "No," said Holifield, "I don't agree. After the next war is fought we won't be able to manufacture bottles any more." "That's right," said Moss. "But, of course, we could always pick them up on the beaches."

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Washington can now go back to work. It's undergone three months of saying good-bye to Sir Percy Spender, departing Australian ambassador and his wife. The Dominican Republic may be a dictatorship but the ladies of Washington love the way Manuel De Moya, svelte ambassador of Dictator Trujillo, bends low to kiss their hands. Don Ross, who resigned as U. S. attorney in Nebraska when he got mixed up in the Superior Oil oil attempts to bribe senators to put across the natural gas bill, is now trying to stage a comeback by being elected Republican national committeeman from Nebraska.

The Dominican government is putting out a book of speeches delivered on the floor of Congress by its strange assortment of friends. The book will be jam-packed with speeches by such congressmen as George Long of Louisiana, brother of the late Kingfish; B. Carroll Reece of Tennessee; Don Johnson of California.

Williamson County Commissioners Protest Tickets

MARION, Ill. (UPI)—Nobody can park free around the Williamson County courthouse here except the three county commissioners and the supervisor of assessments.

The three commissioners appeared before the Marion Parking Commission Monday night and protested they had been getting parking tickets.

And that, they said, wasn't according to a "gentlemen's agreement" they had with the commission. They said it was understood when they voted to let parking meters be installed around the courthouse, that they be permitted to park free.

The commission agreed with the county commissioners. The commission said the county commissioners and the supervisor of assessments are the only county employees in the courthouse who use their cars in their work.

SIU Girl Wins Nursing Uniform Design Contest

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Linda Walters, 18-year-old freshman in nursing at Southern Illinois University, has been named winner of a Nurse's Uniform Design contest sponsored by the SIU Department of Nursing.

The uniform she designed will be worn by SIU's student nurses beginning next October, according to Miss Virginia Harrison, department chairman.

For submitting the winning entry, Miss Walters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Walters of Weldon (Rt. 1), will receive a year's free tuition at the University. Funds for the award were donated privately.

Six judges selected Miss Walters' design on the basis of its originality and adaptability for street and hospital wear, Miss Harrison said.

The uniform will be a golfer type dress with yoke, pointed collar, roll-up sleeves, and action back. The blouse will be buttoned and the five-gore skirt will be gripper fastened. Other features are a set-in belt and reinforced pockets. No decision has been made concerning the uniform's color.

Miss Walters, who plans a career in nursing, is living with an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Reynolds of Carterville, while attending Southern. She is a 1957 graduate of the Deland-Weldon Senior High School at Deland.

Southern instituted a 15-quarter program leading to a bachelor of science degree in nursing last fall. The professional curriculum is being offered in cooperation with the University of Illinois.

Contest judges were Miss Harrison; Miss Stephanie Conwell, associate professor of nursing; Miss Carol Carman, Carbondale, sophomore in nursing; Mrs. Stella Collins West Frankfort, member of the SIU Board of Trustees; Mrs. Alyce Fly, proprietor of a women's clothing shop in Carbondale; Miss Ritta Whitsel, associate professor of clothing and textiles; and Miss Wilma Nangle, registered nurse at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Marion.

Myrons Pleased With Attendance At 25th Anniversary Celebration

Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week, the 25th anniversary of Myrons Exclusive Feminine Apparel shop was celebrated by hundreds of women who visited the store. The guests who called were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Eli Lasersohn and were served with punch and tea cakes from a table decorated in pink and white flowers and appointments accented with silver. Each guest was invited to sign the guest book and from this list of names there will be 25 who will receive door prizes, as announced in today's "Thank You" notice.

Special guests at the celebration were ladies who have worked at Myrons at some time during the 25 years of their operation and each of these women was presented with a memento of the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Lasersohn were grateful and pleased with the great number of people who called to wish them well on their anniversary. "It's surprising how many people came who have been customers for the full 25 years and who remember the opening of the store," Mr. Lasersohn said Saturday afternoon. In summing up his ideas of his career in the store throughout the years he said simply, "We've earnestly tried to give our community the ultimate in fashion combined with personal friendly service. This is our goal and we genuinely appreciate the support of the community. It's been a lot of fun working here and Hannah and I have really enjoyed it."

Among the out of town guests who called were Mrs. T. A. Blake who has operated Myrons store in Marion for the past 10 years, Mrs. Ned Gillespie who manages the store in Vienna and Mrs. Edwin Vokes, operator of the Carmi store.

Organ music was provided by Mrs. Dale Sullivan, Mrs. Helen Asbell and Miss Mary Jane Mullinix.

SIDE GLANCES

By Galbraith

"No more visits to the old home town! But I don't really look as old as those old friends of ours we saw again, do I?"

THE STORY: Ward Sebastian received a slight wound on the trail to Yreka. He believes his attacker was white, not one of the Mo-docs, who are on the warpath. He is being greeted by friends in Yreka.

VI
Beyond the end of the counter a door opened and Helen Chesbro came in. A slender woman, she was plain of face until she smiled, when she was transformed completely. She exclaimed at sight of Sebastian.

"Ward! Safely with us again! You'll never know how you worry Jeff and me." Now she discovered the blood-crusted bandage and caught her breath.

"Nothing of great account," he said quickly. "And don't bother Jeff about it."

To this she paid no heed at all, catching her husband's eyes and beckoning vigorously.

Jefferson Chesbro was a stocky slightly balding man with a round, pleasant face and shrewd, steady eyes. At 40 he was an even 10 years older than Sebastian.

"Good to see you, Ward! What's the word?"

It was Helen Chesbro who answered. "His arm, Jeff."

"What happened to you?"

"Well, if you must know, Sam Lester and I met a mite of trouble out at Sheet Iron. Somebody tried a couple of shots. They nipped me slightly and did for one of the mules, which hurts a lot more than this scratch on the arm."

Jeff Chesbro's frown of concern deepened, but before he could press the matter further, his wife took command.

"No more questions just now, Jeff. This arm needs caring for. Ward, you come along. Your eyes are cloudy, and that could be fever. Don't argue!"

Turning to follow Helen Chesbro, he again met the eyes of the girl in the cloak. And he knew, by the now open and inquiring interest in them that she'd been listening and had missed nothing.

As the interval of their locked glances lengthened she colored slightly and looked away, showing a stiffening of her head and shoulders.

Sebastian's lips pulled in the faintest of smiles. Likely, he decided, she was fresh from the Presidio at San Francisco, come along with some officer relative of the Regulars. At any rate, almost a sure bet to be of the Army, and not forgetting it for one haughty minute, either.

When a man stepped through the door at the end of the counter, he moved far away from the wet and bitter world outside.

Here a coffee pot steamed and savory odors lifted. On a table, half a dozen freshly baked loaves of bread gave off their cooling fragrance. He stacked his rifle in a corner, hung his coat and belt gun on a wall peg, then dropped into a chair, his words running low and husky.

"When I was a kid, my idea of an angel was a fat, pink and white infant, perched on a cloud. Now I know better. A real angel is a woman like Helen Chesbro."

She cut away the sleeve of his shirt and the bandanna that had served as a bandage. Fully exposed, the wound showed as a shallow but inflamed slash.

He had a jaw-clenching moment of it when the hot water first made contact with the open wound. But presently it became a soothing comfort which drew the fever from him, along with the throbbing pressure that had begun to build up in the arm.

"The angel image," he said, "becomes increasingly real."

She laughed softly and gave him a gentle buffet alongside the head. "Bosh! You should save that kind of talk for Anne Biglow. She was by today, wondering when you'd be in town again."

"Checking up on me, eh?" he drawled, dryly humorous.

"Of course. What with all the Indian trouble and frightful rumors flying, and you in the middle of it all, is it any wonder she worries? Ward, that girl is lonely. Don't leave her so, too long."

"Harley Ritter still ambitious, you think?"

"Exactly. And insistent. Ann's father has taken him into his law office as a partner. The idea of further partnership between a Biglow and a Ritter could be catching."

"You got a point there," Sebastian admitted. "But Anne can quit being lonely the minute she says the word. All she has to do is marry me, come out to the ranch and set up housekeeping."

"All of which isn't the easiest choice in the world for a girl like Anne to make. You have to consider the time and the way things are, Ward. A ranch, isolated and lonely, way out there toward Tule Lake. No neighbor within miles. Almost in the center of this Indian trouble. I'd have to love a man very deeply to follow him to that ranch."

One of the side doors off the hall led to a room reserved for Sebastian's use while in town. In here he achieved the final physical lift of a shave, a good wash and a change into clean, dry clothes. When he returned to the kitchen, Helen Chesbro showed a frowning irritation.

"This," she said, "is stark cruelty to a man half starved, as I know you are. But Jeff wants you out front, Ward. Do you mind too much?"

"Not if it's necessary. What's it about?"

"I don't know. But Jeff's upset over something."

"Knowing the man," Sebastian said, "he wouldn't be so without good reason."

Rails Postpone Effective Date of Rate Increases

WASHINGTON — The nation's major railroads today postponed the effective date of their proposed freight rate increases from Feb. 1 to Feb. 15.

Edward Kaier, chief counsel for all the railroads, said the postponement was made at the request of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The commission sought the postponement in view of the number of shippers and interested parties who have requested time to appear during oral arguments on the rate hikes.

Oral arguments begin Wednesday before the commission on whether to suspend the proposals or let them become effective. More than 80 requests have been made to the commission for argument time.

The railroads have proposed freight rate boosts ranging from 2 to 5 per cent. Shippers have filed hundreds of protests against the proposed new rates.

9-Year-Old Girl Fatally Injured At Effingham

EFFINGHAM, Ill. (UP) — A 9-year-old girl was injured fatally Tuesday by a car while en route home from school with her brother and sister.

The girl, Mary Ann Siemer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Siemer, Effingham, died early today at St. Anthony's Hospital of a skull fracture. The driver of the car did not stop after the accident.

Later, Charles B. Banks, 63, a Windsor farmer and stockbuyer, came to the police station and told Chief Cletus Lamb he was the driver.

Banks said he had driven some 25 miles home to get his wife and returned to Effingham after the accident. Lamb quoted Banks as saying "I never had anything make me sicker."

Lamb said witnesses told him that Mary Ann, her brother, Philip, 8, and sister Patricia, 6, were waiting on a corner for a spotlight to change. They said Mary Ann, a third-grader, stepped into the street after the light changed from red to yellow and was struck and thrown about 40 feet by the car.

No charge was filed against Banks. An inquest was scheduled.

Japanese Warships Visit Pearl Harbor

PEARL HARBOR, T. H. (UP) — Four Japanese warships arrive today on a visit to Pearl Harbor the first such courtesy call in nearly 20 years—and this time they were welcome.

Japanese and American officials spent weeks of careful planning to avoid any embarrassing reminder of Dec. 7, 1941. Although Pearl Harbor still bears some of the scars of that attack, officials will keep them in the background.

Gunnery Target Hits Home

CHICAGO (UP) — Officials of the Illinois Air National Guard today investigated the plunge of a jet gunnery target through the roof of a suburban Libertyville home.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Redden narrowly escaped injury Tuesday when the five foot cylinder, made of pressed cardboard, bounced into the kitchen of their second-floor apartment.

The Reddens had just finished breakfast and left the kitchen when they heard an "explosion." Rushing back to the kitchen, they saw a piece of the target on the chair Mrs. Redden had just vacated.

Guard officials at O'Hare International Airport said the T33 jet trainer which was towing the target was in a landing procedure when the cylinder broke loose. It had been used for rocket target practice over Lake Michigan.

Redden said the target broke after hitting the house, and that several fragments crashed through the roof. Two holes were torn in the Redden's ceiling—one about the size of a wash tub.

School Principal Suicides; Jury to Probe Pressure

NEW YORK (UP) — A grand jury investigating violence in schools prepared today to question board of education officials about "pressure" on a principal who committed suicide shortly before he was to have testified a third time about juvenile crime in his school.

The principal, George Goldfarb, 55, of John Marshall Junior High School in Brooklyn, jumped from his apartment house roof Tuesday. He had been scheduled to appear a few hours later at his own request before a Kings County grand jury that has been looking into lawlessness in public schools in Brooklyn.

Goldfarb's school has been the scene of a rape and three assaults in the last eight weeks. A member of the school system 33 years and John Marshall principal since 1954, he was reported greatly disturbed by publicity resulting from the grand jury investigation.

He also was caught in the middle of a controversy between the grand jury and the New York Board of Education over proposals to assign policemen to violence-ridden schools. The grand jury three times has handed up presentments calling for such action. The school board has called the proposal "unthinkable."

But some relaxation of the board's stand was indicated Tuesday with disclosure that Superintendent of Schools William Jansen is notifying all principals that they may have a policeman stationed inside their schools if they request one. It is up to each principal to decide, Jansen said.

Herrin City Council Accepts Low Bids for Waterworks Improvement

HERRIN, Ill. (UP) — The Herrin City Council has tentatively accepted two low bids totaling $402,278 for waterworks improvements.

The low bid submitted Monday night for laying a new waterline from Crab Orchard Lake to the Herrin water plant was $236,994 by the Kieffer Brothers Construction Co., Mount Carmel. The other, for improvements at the water plant, was for $165,984 by the Sterrett Construction Co., Owensboro, Ky. Eight companies submitted bids.

Final approval of the bids is expected at a special council meeting next Monday.

Thor Launched; Await Firing Earth Satellite

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UP) — The sixth successful flight of the mighty Air Force Thor intermediate range missile provided what officials of this test center hoped today would be a good omen for early launching of the first U. S. earth satellite.

A Thor, sturdiest missile in the free world's defense arsenal, soared up in a spectacular burst of flame and smoke shortly after 3 p. m. e. s. t. Tuesday. The Air Force announced that it "flew its prescribed course and landed in the pre-selected impact area."

The flight heartened experts preparing the Army's Jupiter C missile for an attempt to launch a satellite. The Jupiter C is believed ready for launching before the end of this week. But the firing time is secret.

There was no indication how far the Thor flew Tuesday, nor how close it came to the target. When another Thor was fired Dec. 19 it flew about 1,200 miles and landed within a short distance of its target.

Previously, the missile had flown over 2,500 miles in a test.

Malan Named to Illinois Committee For Library Week

Russell Malan, 201 North McKinley, has accepted an appointment to the Illinois Citizens' Committee for the first annual National Library Week, March 16-22. The announcement was made by John R. Chapin of Springfield, chairman of the committee.

Gov. William G. Stratton, honorary chairman of the Illinois National Library Week Committee, will issue a proclamation declaring March 16-22 National Library Week in Illinois.

The National Library Week program—with the theme "Wake Up and Read!"—is a dramatic citizens' campaign to re-establish reading in the daily life of every American. It is sponsored by the National Book Committee, Inc., an active nonprofit group devoted to wider and wiser use of books, and by the American Library Association. National civic, cultural, and fraternal organizations, business groups, and labor unions are joining this effort.

Mr. Malan, as a member of the Illinois Citizens' Committee, will have the duties of setting up local committees and serving as liaison between the local committees and the National Book Committee. The Citizens' Committee as a whole is responsible for various state wide events of National Library Week.

Directors Elected at Annual Soil Dist. Meeting

sion the percentage of bankruptcy is about twice that on farms. The decline of income is quickly felt by business after a decline in farm income.

Keep On Trying
"Have faith and look forward to building for better agriculture, better business, better schools and churches and better opportunity for all in Saline county," Mr. Stanford urged.

"Keep on trying because it pays the best dividends," he concluded. The meeting was opened by Kiwanis President Robert Rushing and the invocation was given by the Rev. Glen Daugherty of the Kiwanis club and pastor of the First Christian church.

Rushing also greeted members of the Rotary and Lions clubs and business leaders who were present. Eltis Henson, principal of the Harrisburg Township high school, welcomed the entire group to the school for the annual meeting and the response was made by Alva Gholson, president of the Saline County Soil Conservation District.

Paul Halbersleben, secretary of the Soil District, read the minutes of the last meeting, which was held in Eldorado, and also read the annual report of the District.

Saline County Superintendent of Schools C. Raymond Gardner introduced Soil District essay contest winners from the high schools of the county, and the county winner, Ralph Gass, freshman student at the Eldorado Township high school, read his winning essay. School winners were introduced by Mr. Gardner as follows: Lowell Keel, Carrier Mills Community high school; Jerry Woolard, Eldorado high school, and Ralph Gann, Galatia Community high school. Larry Taylor of the HTHS was unable to be present.

State President Introduced
Mr. Gardner also introduced agriculture teachers in the high schools: H. C. Bishop of Eldorado; E. J. Thompson, Harrisburg, and James Bond of Galatia. He also thanked the Saline County Bankers Association for sponsoring the essay contest and for furnishing the $50 savings bond which was awarded to the winner.

President Gholson recognized community and group leaders who were present and introduced special guests: L. B. Kimmel, Saline county farm adviser; Harry Gearhart, area conservationist; Paul Trovillion, state president of the Soil Conservation Service; George Smith, area conservationist for the Pope-Hardin area, and Dallas Tucker, assistant conservationist.

Tom Morgan, Saline County Soil District conservationist, introduced the speaker. It was his second address before the annual meeting of the Saline County Soil Conservation District as he addressed the meeting held at Carrier Mills in 1954.

High school girls, under the direction of Mrs. Marshall Cothran of the home economics department, were complimented for serving the dinner to the large group present.

Area Towns May Again Finance Exhibit At National Development Exposition

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Centers of community development campaigns in southern Illinois may again finance an exhibit at the National Industrial Development Exposition in New York.

Representatives of five towns and three counties attended a meeting at Southern Illinois University last weekend to hear of plans for the second annual NIDE show in New York's Coliseum April 7-12.

Nearly 40 delegates came from Cobden, Coulterville, Eldorado, Flora, West Frankfort, and Pope county, and two Harrisburg businessmen represented the Saline Valley Development Association which includes Saline and Gallatin counties.

Robert S. Henderson, industrial consultant to the University's department of community development, said Exposition officials are expecting 120 exhibits this year including 31 of the 34 which bought space last year. Before Christmas, 54 exhibits from 29 states had already been booked.

Henderson and Southern Illinois residents who visited the Exposition last year said it offered towns interested in industrial development "a perfect opportunity" to contact companies planning relocation. Henderson reported that last year's Southern Illinois exhibit netted 45 good industrial prospects for the area, 20 of which are still current and seven are "very active" at the moment.

Cobden, Coulterville, Eldorado, Flora, Pope county, Cairo Mounds, and Hardin county, all engaged in development programs with the assistance of SIU, jointly sponsored the Southern Illinois display last year.

It was decided at the SIU meeting last Friday that community development areas interested in this year's show would make commitments before Feb. 15. Costs will be pro-rated according to population. Other towns where development programs have started recently will be invited to participate. They include Steelville, Mt. Vernon, and Edwardsville.

Ewell Winkelman, chairman of the Saline Valley Development

Association, and his brother, Claude, both of Harrisburg, represented the SVDA at the Friday meeting.

Other delegates, listed by towns, included:

Eldorado: Frank Zoltan, Bob Holman; Pope County: Glen Smith, Harry Kluge, Creddie Williams, Darrell Aly, Dovie Younger, Millard Farmer, W. S. Watson, Jr.

sister, Betty Jean, had been bludgeoned to death.

An autopsy showed they had been dead at least 48 hours.

Three other victims were found Tuesday. They were August Meyer, 70, a bachelor farmer on whose property Starkweather often hunted, and Robert Jensen, 17, and Carol June King, 16, high school classmates in Bennet, a village southeast of Lincoln.

Meyer's head had been blasted with a shotgun and his body left in a washroom at the rear of the house. Jensen and Miss King were shot in the head with small caliber bullets and their bodies were stuffed into a storm cellar at an abandoned school ground.

Lancaster County Atty. Elmer Scheele said Miss King was the victim of an "unnatural sex attack."

Carl had not been seen since Monday afternoon, shortly before the bodies of her family members were found.

Mrs. Emma Bell Huelett Dies at Eldorado

The body is in the care of the Mitchell funeral home in Marion. Mrs. Huelett was formerly a resident of Williamson county.

Eldorado Loses 66-55 Loop Tilt At Metropolis

Eldorado plunged into the Southern Illinois conference cellar Tuesday night with a 66-55 loss to Metropolis.

Going into the game Eldorado and Metropolis were tied for the bottom spot, each with one victory.

A terrible first quarter put Eldorado in a 17-8 hole and although the Eagles battled back and finally went in front by a point late in the third frame they ran out of gas and fell back as Metropolis put on a fourth frame rally.

Humma paced Metropolis with 21 points and Mike McMahon topped Eldorado's efforts with 17 markers.

Metropolis' fine second team, loser of only one game to date, won the preliminary game 72-57.

The box score:

Metropolis (66)	FG	FT	TP	PF
Holt	0	0	0	0
Strickland	3	4	10	1

Campanella On Road Back After Operation Following Broken Neck

GLEN COVE, N. Y. — Roy Campanella is on the road back. That was the substance of a dramatic bulletin from the stricken Los Angeles Dodgers catcher's bedside at Glen Cove Community Hospital today less than 24 hours after the 36-year-old baseball great escaped death by an inch in an automobile accident.

"Campanella's condition is somewhat better and the overall picture fairly encouraging," the hospital bulletin said early this morning. "His paralysis is unchanged but it could not be expected to improve as yet."

The bulletin, issued by Dr. Robert W. Sengstaken, the neurological physician who operated more than four hours on Campanella Tuesday morning, and hospital administrator Harry Gifford, said the stricken patient "remains on the danger list."

Whether Campanella, who probably is nearer 40 than his 36-year "baseball age," ever will be able to resume his baseball career remained highly doubtful. Doctors said it was "possible" he might play again but Dr. Sengstaken qualified the statement late Tuesday.

"Assuming a complete recovery, he could not play ball before a year," Dr. Sengstaken said. "He's foolish if he tries to continue to play baseball, but he's not my patient and I'm not going to tell him what to do."

Dr. Sengstaken disclosed that the fifth and sixth vertebrae of Campanella's spinal column were "fractured and dislocated" at about the neckline and said the catcher would have "died instantly" had the injury been an inch higher. He said Campanella's short, bull-like neck played a key part in his escape from a fatal injury.

The doctor said Campanella later will be required to wear a "four poster brace" on his neck with a cup under the chin. He said no further operations were planned "in the immediate future" but conceded "there might have to be another one later on."

Campanella, father of six children ranging from four to 18 years, suffered the accident at 3:30 a. m. e. s. t. Tuesday when his rented sedan skidded on wet pavement and turned over. He was driving from his Harlem liquor store to his 10-room, $40,000 house.

The show will be held in the National Guard Armory at 1700 Clark street, Paducah, where entries will be accepted up to noon. Judging will start at 1 p. m. Premium lists can be obtained from the match secretary, Mrs. R. B. Piercy, Clark Lane, RFD 8, Paducah.

Dog fanciers from a wide area in southern Indiana, southern Illinois and Kentucky are expected to attend the match to compete for trophies and offer encouragement to the new club which is working toward eventual qualification to hold A. K. C. championship shows.

Roy Wise, RFD 3, Harrisburg is a member of the Paducah Kennel club and information regarding the show may be obtained by contacting Mr. Wise.

To Discontinue Herrin Relays

HERRIN, Ill. — One of the oldest high school track meets in Illinois, the Herrin Relays, will be discontinued this year it was announced today.

Herrin High School Athletic Director Charles Jack said the relays have lost money in recent years and the one-fifth-mile track makes it difficult for coaches to train their runners for the races. The Herrin Relays began in 1927 and have been held annually except for three years during World War II.

Warriors Lose To Hawks, 123-109; Nats Win, 110-102

By United Press
For a brief moment Tuesday night Woodie Sauldsberry must have thought he was back clowning with the Harlem Globe Trotters, but his antics in the first game of a National Basketball Assn. doubleheader at Madison Square Garden are almost sure to cost him a fine and reprimand.

The six-seven rookie, who played collegiate ball at Texas Southern before hooking up with the Trotters, lost his temper in a skirmish with Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks and he wound up being tossed out of the game Philadelphia eventually lost the game, 123-109.

In the windup of the twin bill player-coach Paul Seymour and star Ed Conlin were ejected, but the Syracuse Nationals managed to beat the New York Knickerbockers, 110-102, anyway.

Galatia, Ridgway Win Midget Cage Tourney Openers

Galatia and Ridgway won opening round games in the Midget cage tournament played at the Galatia high school Tuesday night.

Galatia ran over Muddy 67-17 in the first game of the session, then Ridgway took a 40-28 decision from Dorrisville, weakened by the loss of two regulars who became too old for grade school play only a day before the start of the tourney.

Ronnie and Donnie Hutchison, power-house twins on the Dorrisville team that tied with Galatia with 9-1 records in regular season play, reached their 15th birthday Monday and were ineligible for further competition.

In semifinal play this evening Galatia meets Broughton and Ridgway plays Raleigh.

Consolation and champion games will be played Thursday evening.

Mantle Offered $75,000 Plus Stengel Criticism

By United Press
Mickey Mantle was en route to Florida today with a $75,000 contract within his grasp but some resounding criticism ringing in his ears.

Assistant General Manager Lee MacPhail of the New York Yankees indicated that his prize slugger won't prove difficult to sign. He said he would meet again with Mantle in Florida about Feb. 10 and added:

"We're not very far apart. I don't expect any trouble getting together at our next meeting."

Mantle, however, was included in a sharply-worded critique of Yankee players Tuesday by none other than manager Casey Stengel.

"He needs fielding practice," said Stengel. "Some balls are going straight over his head and he oughta catch 'em. He goes side ways backward instead of wheeling and running to catch balls over his head."

In a general run-down of his team, Stengel also said: "We got to do better than we did in the World Series. We gotta wake up and find out why all those things went wrong. We messed up plays that shoulda been learned in our rookie school a long time ago."

Norris City Trips Ridgway, 66-58; Rosiclare and Equality Win

Rosiclare edged past Cave-in-Rock 45-44 in the only Greater Egyptian conference game played Tuesday night, but two other GEC teams went outside the league for action, one winning and one losing.

Perhaps the biggest news in local area cage circles was the 66-58 defeat handed Ridgway at Norris City. Until Tuesday night Ridgway had romped for 17 consecutive victories.

But the combined scoring efforts of Jim Greathouse and Rich Hamilton, with 21 points each, more than offset the 30 point effort by Ridgway's Suttner and Ridgway toppled from the ranks of the unbeaten.

Norris City held a scoring edge in each of the first three quarters and led 49-39 as the final frame started.

In the GEC contest, played at Cave-in-Rock, the teams played on near even terms from the start. With the Rockers playing a slowed down type of ball the home team led 8-6 at the quarter. There was just a little more scoring in the second frame and Rosiclare was on top 18-14 at the halftime intermission.

Cave-in-Rock went in front 31-26 at the three-quarter. Rosiclare had a 19-13 scoring edge in the last quarter to claim the victory.

Both clubs had real good free throwing records, the Rockers hitting 16 of 17 and Rosiclare 11 of 14. Switzer of Cave led all scorers with 18. Seay topped Rosiclare with 16.

Equality, using a full court press, raced over Goreville 94-63.

The winners operated at full speed from the start, hitting for 19 points the first quarter and equalling or going over 20 points in the other three.

Gordon Smith, with 35 points, topped the scoring and three of his Equality teammates also were in double figures — Carnett and H. Barnett had 21 each and Emery 19. Morrison led Goreville with 21 points.

Filing Your Income Tax Return--Sickness and Disability Benefits

H. J. White, Director of the Internal Revenue Service for this district today explained the Federal income tax rules which apply to amounts received as compensation for sickness or disability.

Any of the following payments which are received on account of illness or personal injury should not be reported on your Federal income tax return:

- Damages in settlement of a claim.
- Payments under Workmen's Compensation Acts.
- Payments under an accident or health policy on which you pay the premiums.
- Payments on account of your contribution to an accident or health plan jointly financed by you and your employer.
- Payments under an employer financed plan for sickness or injury to you or your dependents if received as reimbursement for medical care or as compensation for the permanent loss or loss of the use of a member or function of the body or for permanent disfigurement.
- Pensions or annuities to an individual for injury or sickness resulting from active service in the armed forces of any country or in the Coast and Geodetic Survey or the Public Health Service; or payments to the beneficiaries by reason of the death of such individual.

The law also allows you to exclude from income amounts received as wages or in place of wages under a wage continuation plan financed by your employer when you are absent from work due to injury or sickness. The amount to be excluded is limited to a weekly rate of $100. In cases where you are paid more than $100 per week, the amount to be excluded is computed by multiplying the amount received by $100 and dividing the result by your weekly rate of payment. For example, assume your pay is $150 for a five-day week. You are absent from work for three days due to an injury and are paid your regular pay of $90. Of the $90 received, you would exclude $60. ($90 multiplied by 100 equals $9,000, and $9,000 divided by $150 equals $60.)

Keep in mind, however, that you cannot exclude wages received for the first seven days of absence from work due to illness unless you were hospitalized at least one day during your illness. If you are absent from work due to an injury, the exclusion applies from the first day of absence.

If you received pay while you were absent from work due to injury or illness and the amounts received are included on your Form W-2, enter your gross wages on line 5, page 1 of your Form 1040, and enter the amount to be excluded on line 6(b). You should attach a statement to your return showing your computation of the amount excluded, and listing the dates of absence, the nature of your injury or sickness, and whether or not you were hospitalized. Form 2440 may be obtained from your local Internal Revenue Service for this purpose if you wish.

Mr. White advised taxpayers who have questions concerning sickness and disability benefit payments or any other matter on their Federal income tax return for 1957 to telephone or visit the local office of the Internal Revenue Service. The local office may be reached by telephone CL 3-7993. The address of the local office is 111½ North Main Street, Harrisburg.

Leaky Faucet Drips Away Much Money

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Plumbing Fixture Manufacturers Association estimates there are about 24 million leaky faucets in American homes.

The drips not only are troublesome but costs householders money in higher water bills and increased fuel costs (when the faucet drips hot water).

The association suggested that the washer be replaced at the first sign of a drip. If the leak continues, replace the faucet.

Part of the largest known gas fields in the United States are located in the southwestern part of Kansas.

Toughest automotive tests of all time prove

LOW-COST PLYMOUTH LOOKS, RUNS LIKE NEW—AFTER 58,000 MILES

It's America's biggest automotive value—when you buy it...and when you trade

Dramatic braking test made before top automotive editors. The Plymouth on the right had just completed a 58,000-mile cross-country run. Other tests included acceleration, ride smoothness, gas economy, handling ease. The 58,000-mile veteran performed like new!

One of the Plymouths above is fresh from the assembly line. The other, a veteran of the toughest test run of all time: 58,000 continuous miles in 58 days. A thousand miles a day through 37 states.

We put both of these Plymouths through the same exacting tests. Acceleration. Gas economy. Handling ease. Braking efficiency.

The results: the Plymouth that had driven 58,000 miles—the equivalent of 6 years on the road—could hardly be told from new. Like the new Plymouth, it zoomed from 0 to 40, 40 to 60 in a matter of seconds. In a 40-mph "panic" stop, it halted within 38 inches of the new car. And in the vital area of gas economy, careful tests proved that the 58,000-mile car delivered almost the exact same mileage as the new Plymouth. It rode with a smoothness and handled with an ease that astounded even veteran test drivers... men who had thought they'd seen everything.

What does it all prove? Just this: from the day you buy it, to the day you trade it in, your new Plymouth will take you to wherever you're going... faster, smoother, easier, safer. You get more value now... and you get more dollars when you trade.

Get your Plymouth dealer's fair appraisal of your present car and see how easy it is to own America's biggest automotive value.

Plymouth stays young and proves it!
